OUR TOAST TO WINSLOW HI

(Alma Mater)

Here 'mid the skies' and the deserts' beauty
And mountain ranges blue
Touched by the ever gleaming sunlight
And desert moonlight, too—
So we pay homage to you, our High School,
Pledging that we'll be true—
With voice and hand and heart saluting,
Here's our toast to you.

Chorus:
With a hep, hep, hep we march along,
Winslow High, to you we're true.
With a hep, hep, hep and a cheering song,
Fighting, working and rooting for you.
You're our pride and honor, Winslow High.
You're our inspiration too—
For your learning we're yearning,
Hope high is burning—
That's our toast to you.

Bette Bauer—Class of '39.

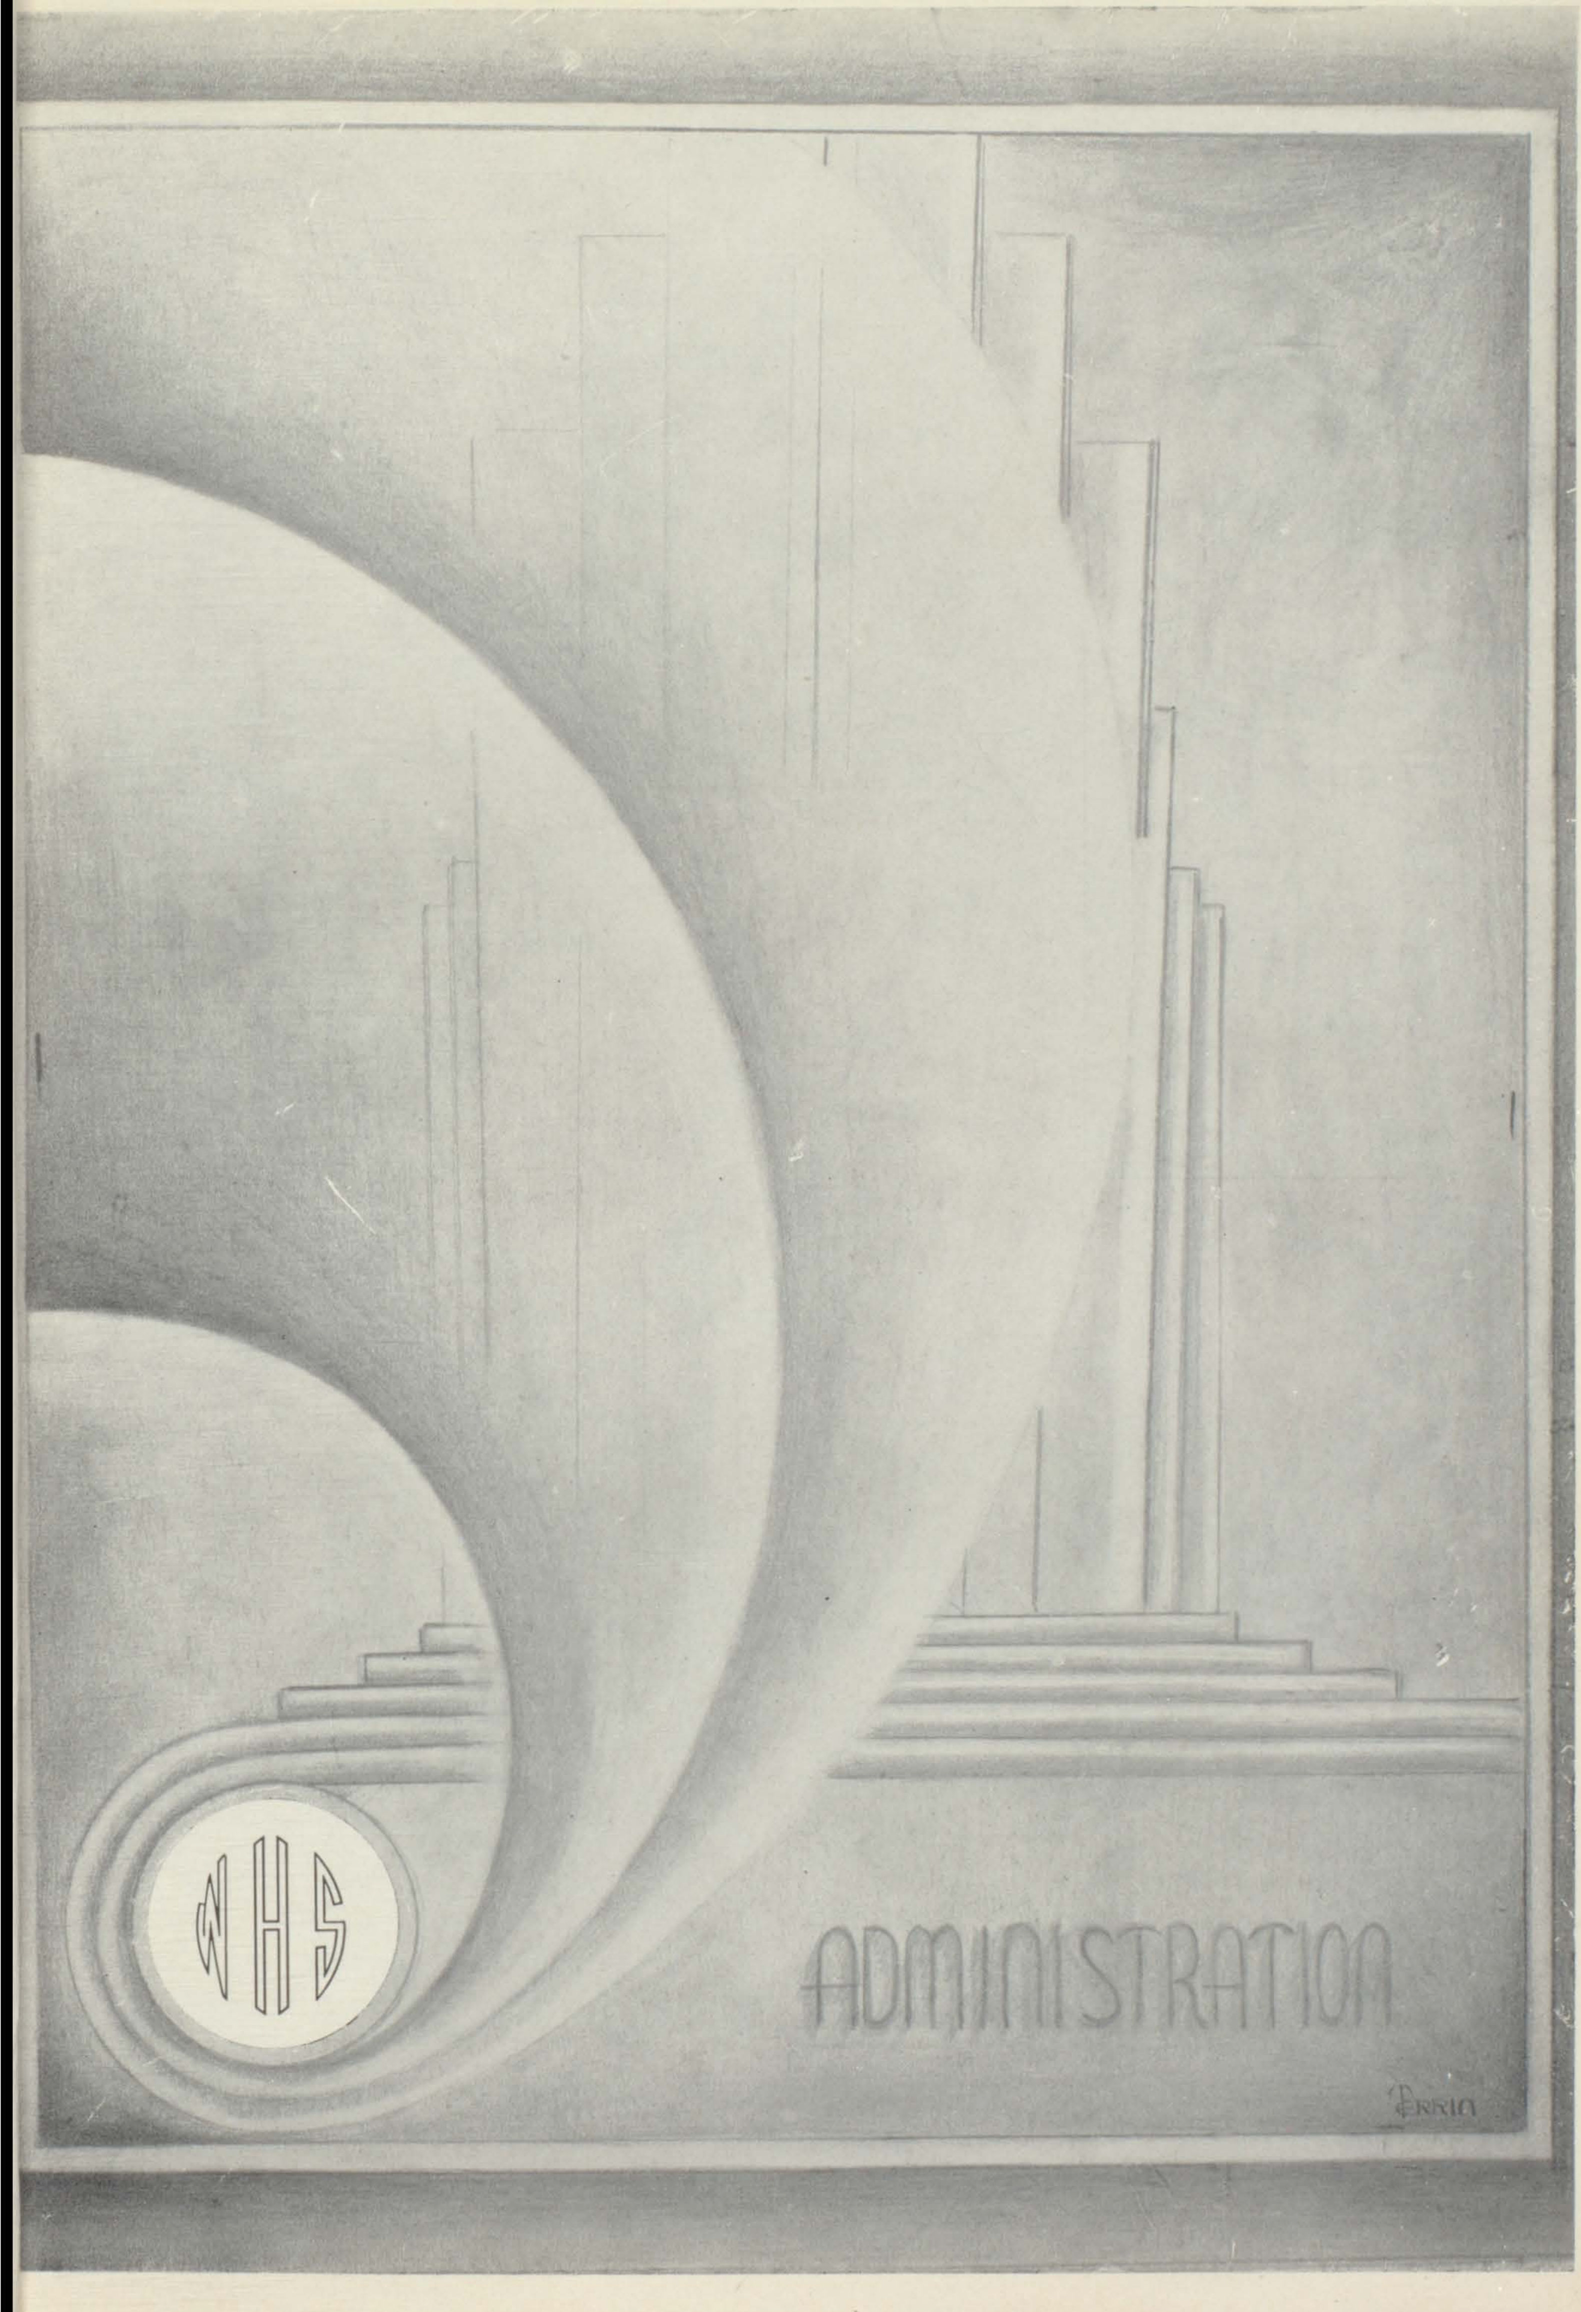

In Memoriam

St. John said: "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him, should not perish but have everlasting life."

Elizabeth Ann Keeney and Billy Rhyan, our love cannot die. But Death, my friends, with all its solemnity has come to you, for Death is no respecter of persons. It lays its hands upon the flower and the tree; it takes the babe and the mother; it regards not youth nor youth's ambitions. But your soul is immortal. You shall live forever to all, and especially to us, the class of "39".

STUDENT COUNCIL

Winslow High School's Student Council was organized in 1932, with Ralph Blankenship the first student body president.

The membership of this organization consists of the officers—president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, editor, and cheer leader—and representatives from the four senior high classes and the various clubs.

Many new activities have grown from this organization, among which are the "Bulldog Rumpus", the swimming meet, moving pictures, special assembly features, noon dances, and other important activities.

This year many new organizations were started through the influence of this active body of young people.

The principal objective of the student council is to create a feeling of self-government among the students.

SENIORS

We, the seniors of Winslow High School, have gone through school much the same as any other class would have. We have always heretofore looked upon seniors as being "high and mighty". Now that we ourselves are seniors, it is hard to believe. When we have finished this, our crowning year, most of us will part to go our own particular way in life. Each person has a place in life, and it is usually necessary to part with today's friends in order to find this place of tomorrow. But in later years when we recall our school days, it will not be the little hardships and trials which we have had, but the friends and acquaintances which we have made that will linger in our memories.

JUNIORS

Only one more year to go before we attain the goal for which we have been striving so hard. Our third lap of the race is nearly over. Only one more lap before we emerge the winners with the laurels of graduation showing that we have partly quenched our thirst for knowledge. Then we have the future to look forward to, the biggest and best race of them all.

Although we have been called "flighty", we have accomplished much during our three years of schooling and plan to do more during our Senior year.

We will always keep and cherish our memories of school days happily recalling the many friends we made and from whom we finally parted.

The present day sophomore class is just an average class to outsiders, but to us it is of utmost importance. We have, in our quiet way, dutifully taken part in all school activities and through the untiring efforts of our more talented students, we already hold an important spot in school activities.

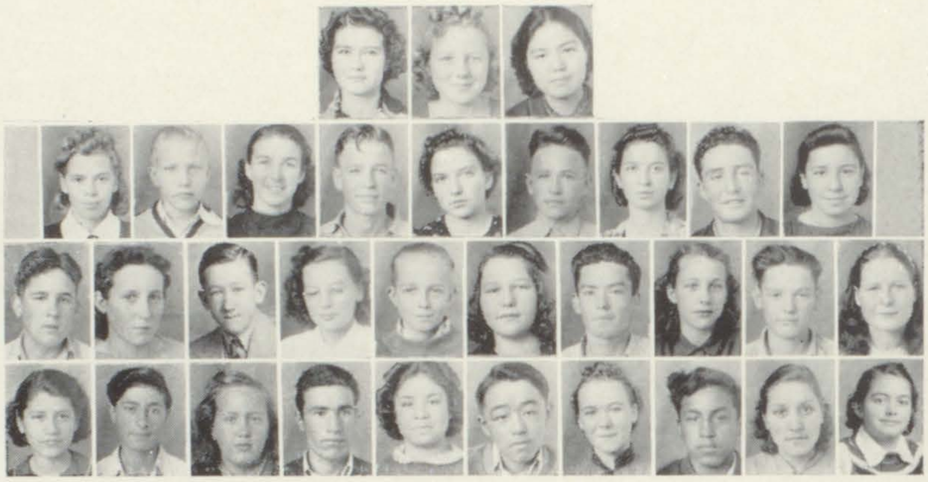

The higher classes have always considered this sophomore class the most noisy and most constantly out of order class ever to start life in high school.

When we actually take the final step into the world on the ever-approaching graduation day, the numerous memories of our younger years in high school will forever be with us as the most interesting and educational.

As freshmen of the senior high we do not look up the things that we have done in the past, but we are looking forward to the things that we will accomplish during our next few years of high school. The freshman class has tried to cooperate with the rest of the high school in the activities which have taken place. We have been considered the "green" freshmen, but we hope that this idea of us will soon be forgotten as we begin our year as sophomores.

Some members of our class have been active in a number of the organizations and contest this year and we shall try to prove to be an asset to the school in the future.

Winslow Junior High School

Now don't just skip this page. Please spare me a moment in this eulogy of the high and mighty Senior High to let me tell you just a few, so as not to bore you, of the highlights of our little brothers' and sisters' activities in Junior High.

To begin with, last fall in the annual "Bulldog Rumpus" parade, a Junior High class won first prize for the best float. This we hate to admit, but must, if we be fair, that the 8B's float, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, was certainly deserving of the prize.

You, Senior High, can skip this paragraph if you choose, but the Junior High would like to have their student body officers mentioned. This term they elected:

President - - - - - - B. Ewan
V. President - - - - - S. Purdy
Secretary - - - - - M. Richards
Treasurer - - - - - - B. Young
Yell Leader - - - - - T. Jensen
Boys' Ath. Mgr. - - - - - D. Begay
Girls' Ath. Mgr. - - - - J. Kabelin

Then, on March 4 and 5 they again ran the Senior group close competition with their own Junior High One-Act Plays. They presented:

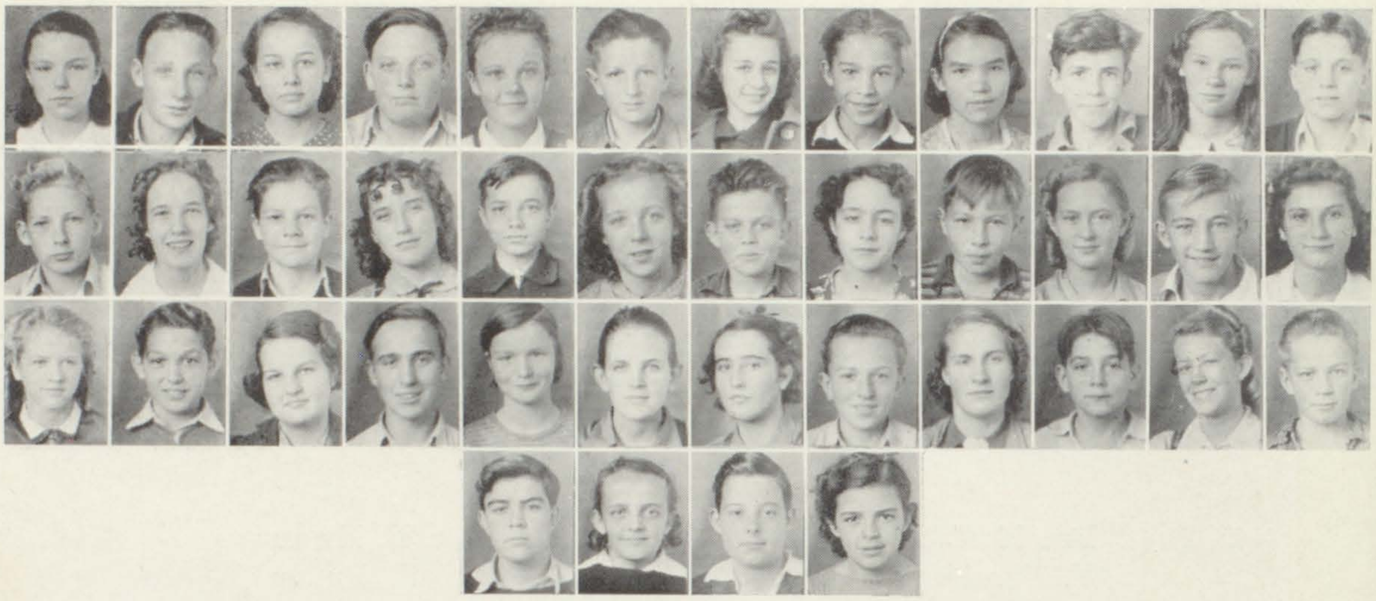

"Getting In the Talkies"
"King's Great Toe"
"The Contest Play"
"The Three Pills in a Bottle"
"Too Much of a Good Thing"
"Mother Goose Drops In"

To round out their current year, they will have ready to present at the end of this term their Junior High annual. With Mr. Letts as the annual sponsor, they elected Helen Carraway as editor, and Mary Mullen as associate editor.

Good luck, Junior High!

"METEOR"

Years ago, before any of the present school students can remember, the Winslow High School annual was printed under the title of "Sandstorm". From this name, it was changed to "El Vaquero", a word equivalent to "cowboy" in Spanish.

For over ten years the annual has been called "The Meteor", a very appropriate name, which is taken from the Meteor Crater.

The yearbook is published biennially by the students of the high school.

BULLDOG BARKS

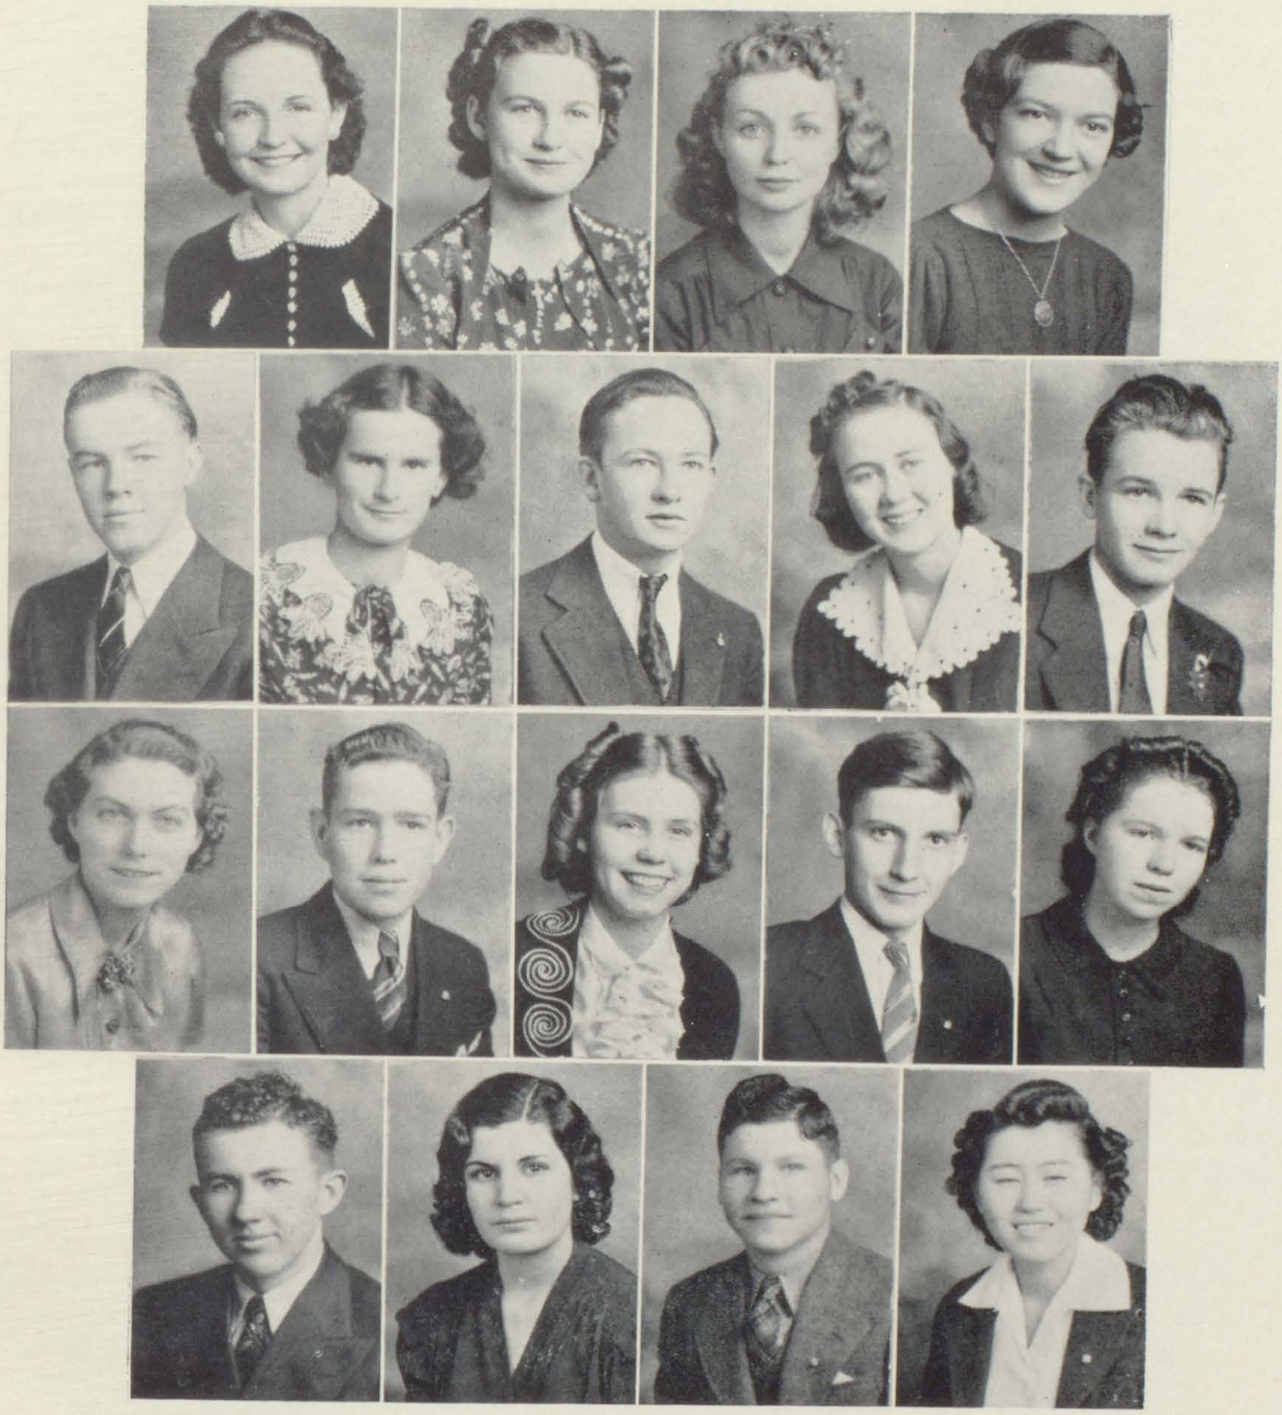

It is not until the year 1938-1939 that Winslow High School has had a regular journalism class. Before the organization of this class, the articles which were used in the school paper were submitted by various students of the high school.

In 1938, when the editor, Lowell Anderson, was elected to office, the journalism class was begun under the supervision of Mr. Hurlbert. There were fourteen members in this class, including the editor.

HONOR SOCIETY

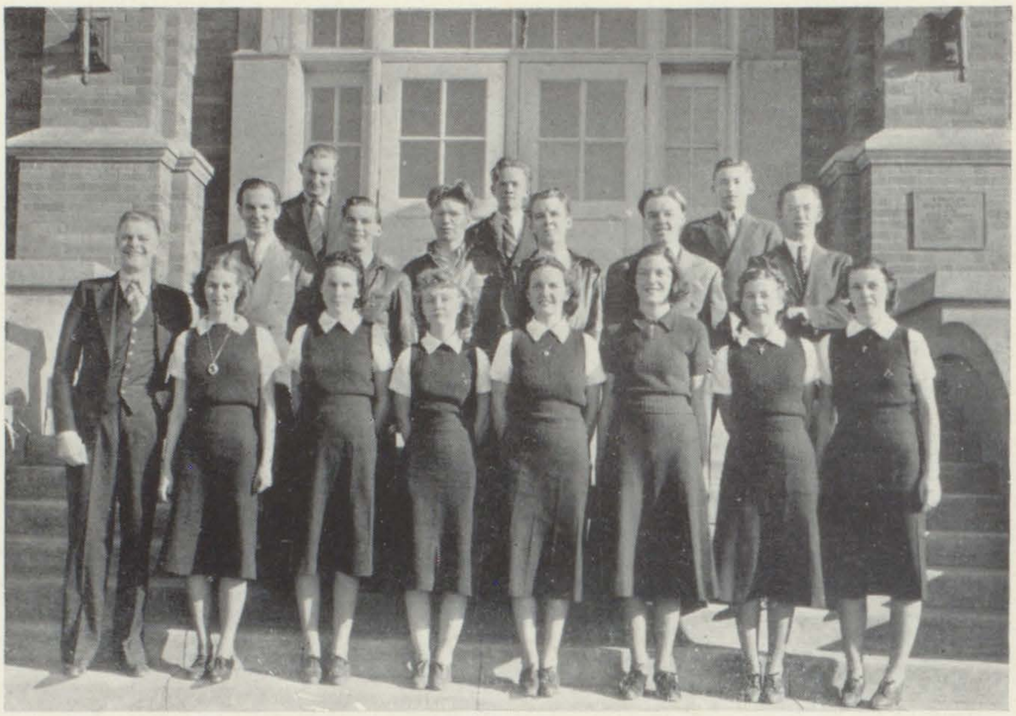

Frankie Edwards, President; Peggy Willey, Vice-President; Helen McKeand, Secretary, Marjory Trimble, Treasurer.
Franklin Martin, Verge Dean Britt, James Wiley, Mayola Shumway, Frank Nelson.
Peggy Darling, Kenneth Smith, Pat Carr, Lowell Anderson, Jane Godsell.
Jack Brown, Rose Rubi, Howard Haage, Sumiki Kawasaki.

The Honor Society was first organized in 1935 under the direction of Miss Care, and has played an active part in this high school since that date.

To promote leadership, scholarship, and service in Winslow High School are the main purposes of this organization.

Only the upper 15% of the Junior class, and the upper 25% of the Senior class are eligible for membership.

THESPIANS

In 1937, a National Thespian Organization was started in Winslow High School with thirteen charter members. The second year the organization increased to about thirty-three membrs, and has kept growing steadily until at the present there is a membership of forty, including both active members and alumni.

All students of Winslow High School who have met the requirements of the organization are eligible to join.

At present the sponsor of this club is Mr. Hurlbert, the dramatics supervisor.

PEP SQUAD

In 1927 Miss Blackburn, a former teacher of Winslow High School founded an organization for girls, and called it the Pep Squad. The main purpose of this organization is to promote interest in different athletic activities.

Every new member is elected by popular vote of the old Pep Squad members. The initiation lasted for one day and 26 "rats", those being initiated, suffered the wishes of their "superiors", the old members. Onions were the chief ornament allowed the "rats".

A few dances and many assemblies were sponsored by the Pep Squad. Drills were given at the majority of football and basketball game by these girls.

Miss Tolson was the sponsor last year, but this year Miss Mooney took over the job. Both of these sponsors have worked hard teaching the girls drills, and trying to supervise the activities of this organization.

HOMEMAKING CLUB

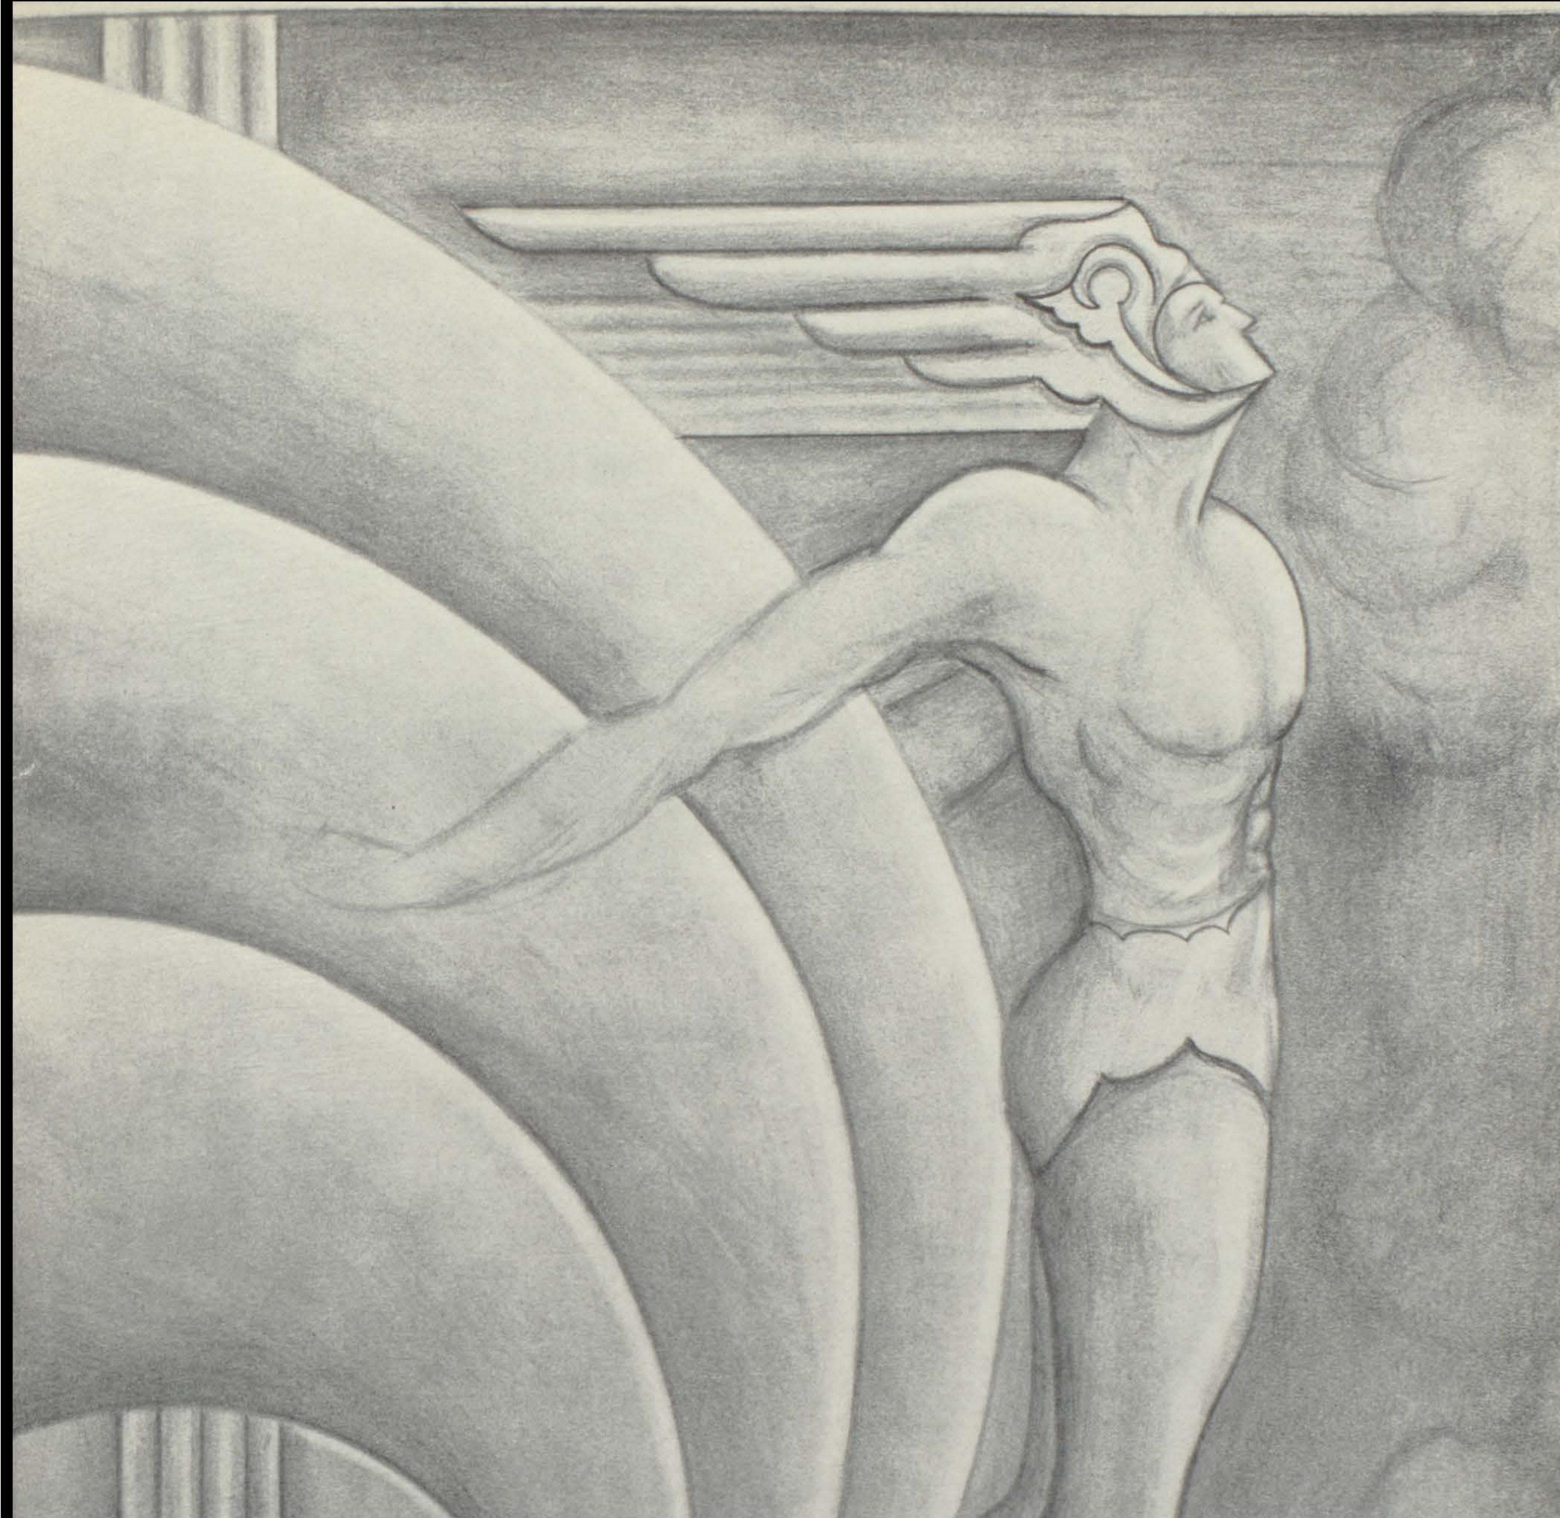

During the first of the year 1938 a homemaking club was organized under the leadership of Miss Tolson, the Home Economics teacher of Winslow High School.

This school year has proved to be a very active one for the organization, and it has made rapid strides toward becoming one of the most prominent clubs in school.

The main purpose of this organization is to study the phases of homemaking that cannot be taken up during class time.

FOOTBALL

Even some twenty-odd years ago when the first football team was organized, Winslow High School had good football material. All through the years the boys have been small but powerful, and this year was no exception.

In the fall, there were only nine lettermen in the group of thirty-eight men turning out for football. On the whole, the squad was made up of new material, but, as the season progressed, the boys proved that they had the stuff that "champs are made of".

On September 24, in the first game of the season, the Bulldogs held the Gallup Tigers to a 0-0 tie on their own gridiron.

In the first conference game on October 1, Winslow scored a surprising upset when they downed the St. Johns Indians 12-6. But the Clarkdale Wolves quickly put under cover any growing overconfidence the team might have had when they smothered the Bulldogs 19-0 on October 8.

Then the Bulldogs trudged to Holbrook only to be trampled under foot still more by the Roadrunners to the score of 6-0 on October 15. This was the first defeat the Bulldogs had ever suffered at the hands of the Roadrunners.

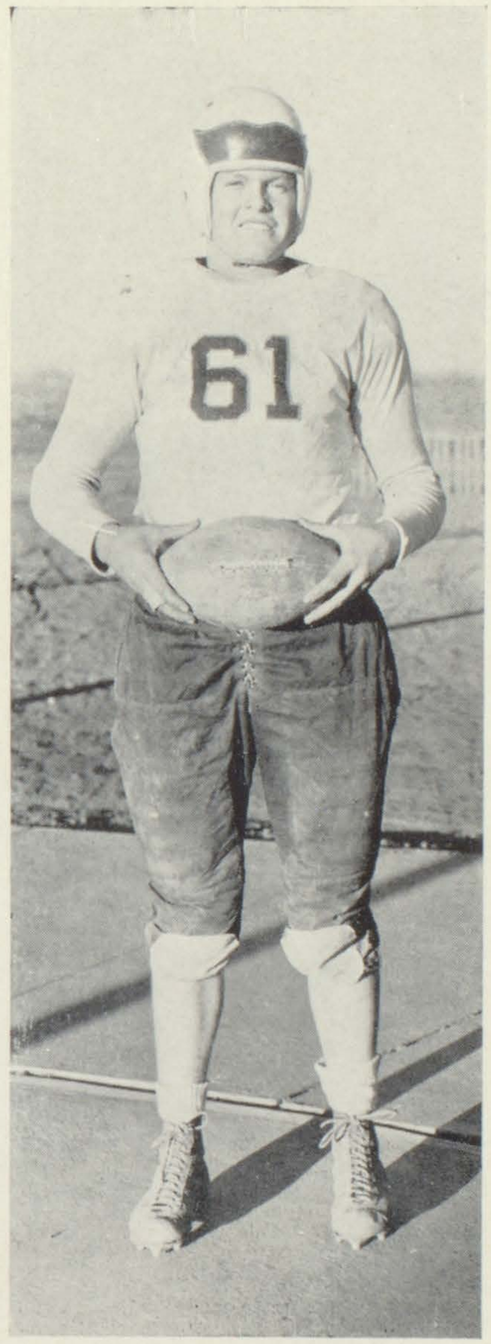

To make matters worse, on October 22, the Prescott Badgers snatched a game from the Bulldogs to the tune of 12-0.

Then the team went south to Jerome where they ended up on the wrong end of a 13-6 score. However, the game was one of the closest the conference-title-winning Muckers had played this season.

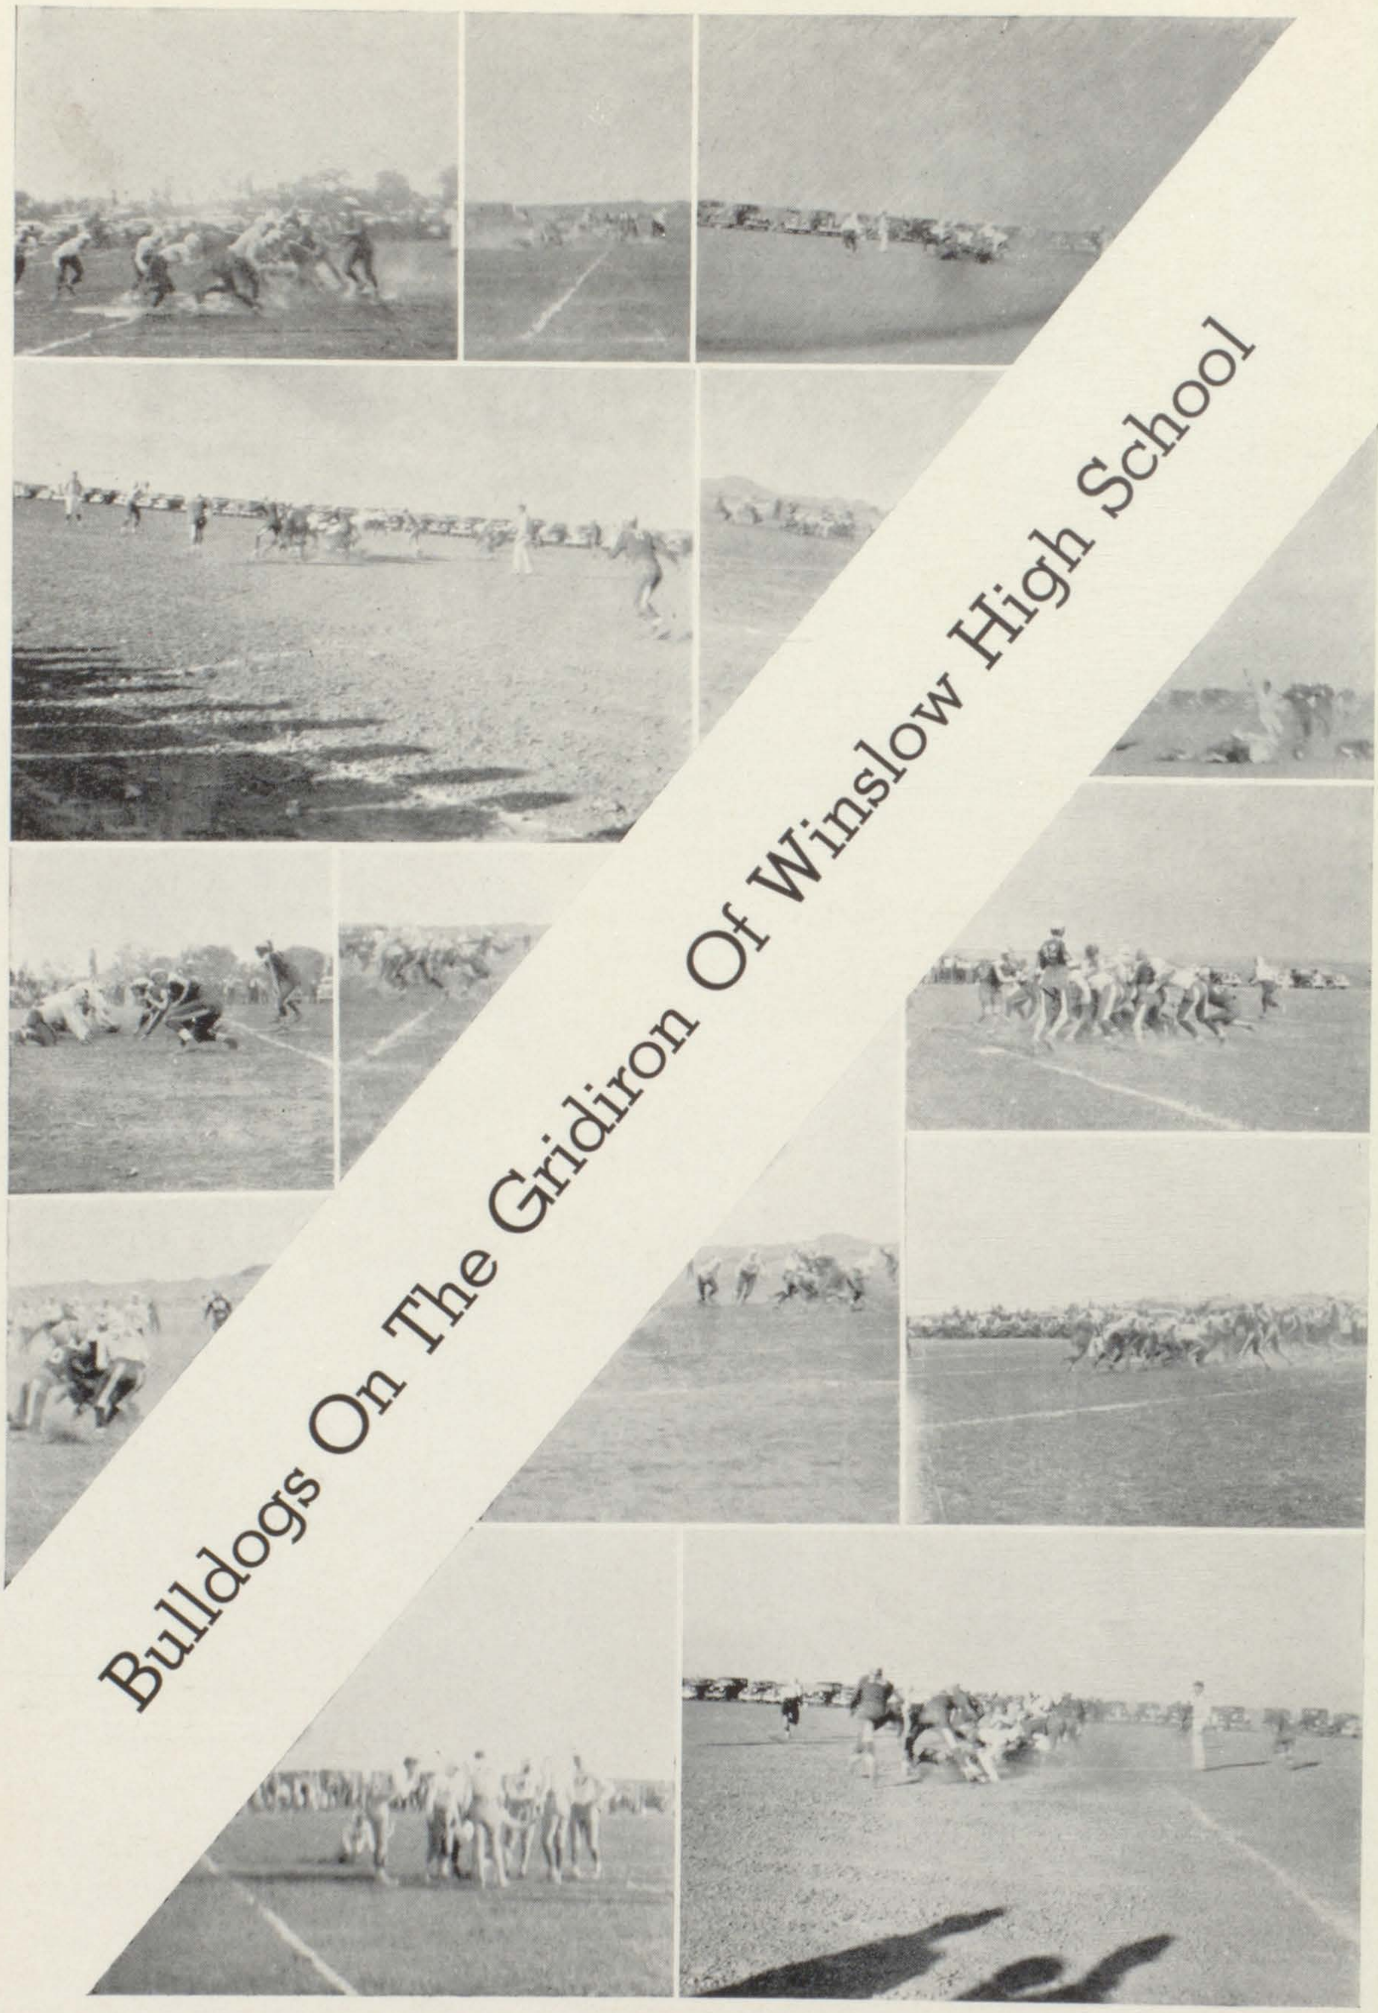

Overcoming great odds, the Bulldogs scored a big upset when they emerged on the long end of a 6-0 tally in a game with Kingman, who, up until this defeat, had high hopes of grabbing the championship.

The final blow fell the last game of the season when the favored Bulldogs were held to a scoreless tie by the Flagstaff Eagles in an Armistice Day game on our own field.

The final event of the gridiron season came in the form of a football banquet on December 2. L. D. Bostick was chosen captain to take the place of the retiring captain, Preston Bushman. Football players, Pep Squad members, teachers, and parents were present at the banquet, and each one was called upon for an after-dinner speech.

SHORTHAND CLUB

Under the sponsorship of Miss Naysmith, the commerce teacher, a shorthand club was organized in the fall of 1938.

This club meets at least once a month to discuss articles from the "Gregg Writer", and read shorthand and practice it, and become more acquainted with the problems which confront the secretary.

The objective of the organization is to aid the students in reading and writing shorthand more efficiently.

Bulldog Rumpus

There's something about a parade that thrills the hearts of old and young alike. "I think that one is the most original and should win first prize." "No, this one will." And so the citizens of Winslow watched and commented as the parade of the fifth annual "Bulldog Rumpus" passed on a very cold and windy afternoon last November 5, 1938.

The parade proved to be the largest and best yet held, led by the high school band, closely followed by the various floats, the football boys in their uniforms, the Pep Squad girls in their new suits, and the different cars decorated with streamers.

Following the parade, the booths and concessions fairly sprang into being as if by magic, for there were more and a better variety of projects sponsored by home rooms than ever before. And with many willing hands to help, no part of the decorations was slighted.

Promptly at seven o'clock the doors of the high school were thrown open to allow the merrymakers to visit the sideshows and booths. The most popular sideshow proved to be the "Paris Night Club," while the hot dog stand seemed to coin money.

Two hours later the crowd settled to witness the floor show which had been arranged and supervised by Mr. Hurlbert, with Student Body President Franklin Martin, acting as Master of Ceremonies.

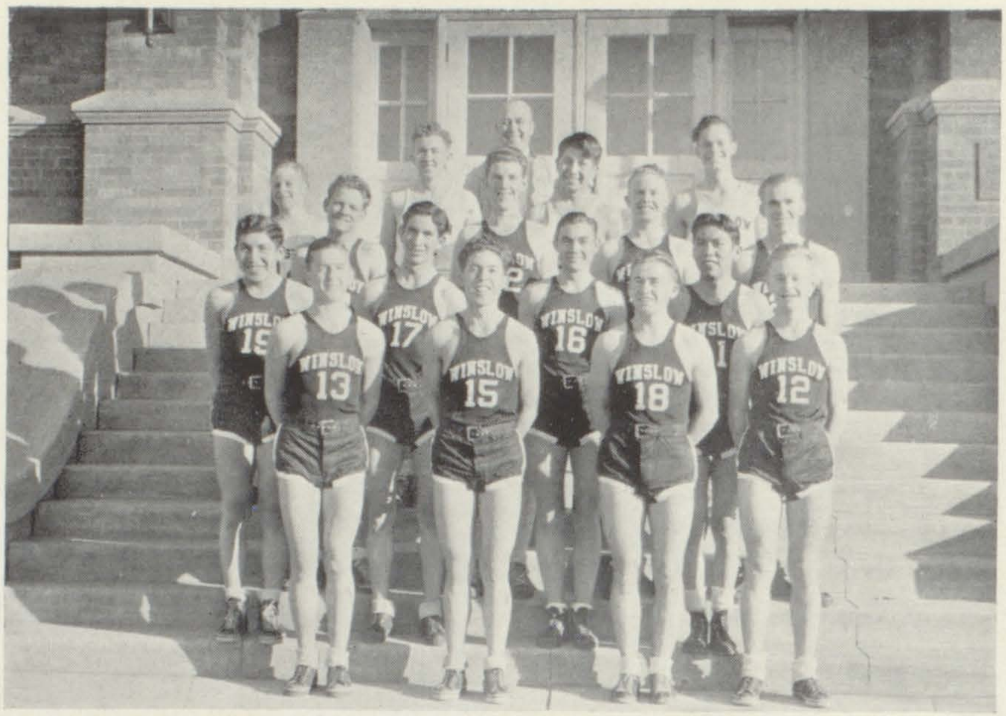

The climax of the evening came with the crowning of the Carnival King and Queen. Frankie Edwards, a beautiful and popular senior girl, was crowned queen. Her king was the handsome, well-liked junior, Roger Stiles. Their attendants were: Betty Courtney, Alice Sorensen, Jane Benham, Mike M'Gillycuddy, Bobby Maxie, and Billy Yarnell.

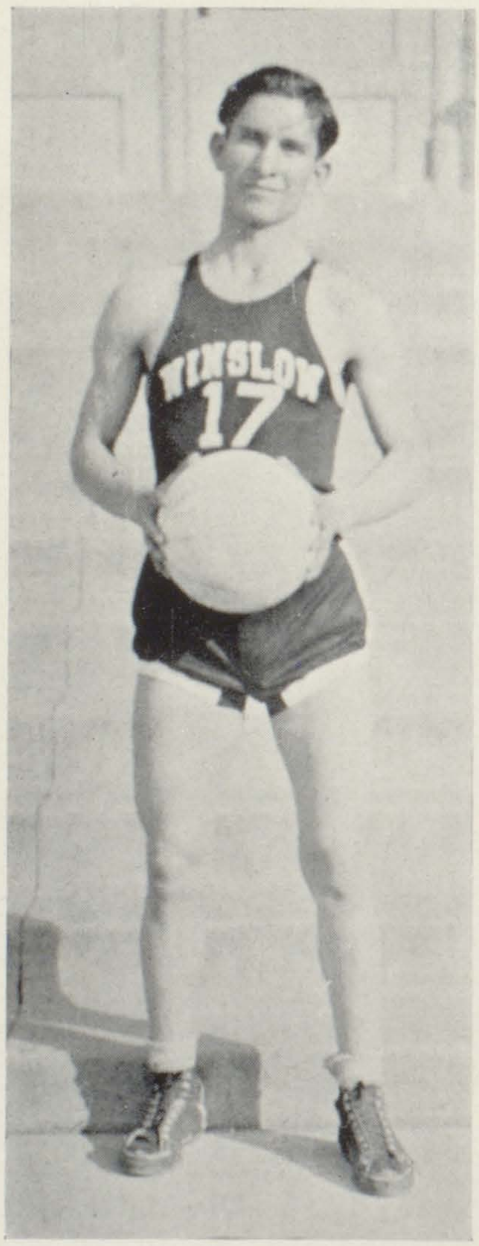

During the intermission, between the skits, songs, and dances, the different prizes were awarded—basketball throw, bean-guessing contest, shooting gallery, and many others. Finally the winning float in the parade was announced. The 8B1 class took this honor, having had as their float Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. The seniors won second place, and third went to Coach Olmsted's shop classes.

On the whole, the purpose of the "Bulldog Rumpus" has always been twofold: to give the students experience and pleasure, and to raise money with which to purchase things the entire student body might enjoy.

BASKET BALL

Winslow's basketball season proved full of upsets. The team was green, and only seven lettermen returned—Buddy Gallegos, Henry Acoya, Carnacion Chacon, Jimmy Savage, Gary Morris, Ray Rodriquez, Preston Bushman, George Foehner (Gallup), and Kay Howard (Pine).

The boys always played good offensive basketball when up against class A teams. Yet when playing teams of a class B nature, the Bulldogs were often soundly trounced.

The most interest was shown in the clash between the Jerome Muckers and the Bulldogs. The Muckers had knocked the Bulldogs out of the tournament semi-finals and eked out a 37-35 decision in a later game, so the Bulldogs were determined to win at all cost. Led by Ray Rodriquez, guard, the Bulldogs finally dropped the Muckers 28-20 in a final game played here.

On February third and fourth at the tournament in Flagstaff, the Bulldogs fought valiantly to the semi-finals. There, they were stopped by the Muckers 31-21. Winslow had forced both Williams and Snowflake out of the running in previous contests.

This year, for the first time, a different captain was appointed by Coach Wilson at the beginning of each game. Formerly, a captain was chosen at the beginning of the season. Carnacion Chacon was elected as honorary captain at the end of the season. Kay Howard was elected captain for the season of '40-'41.

Next year's hopes will be brightened by the return of nine lettermen. Those leaving will be Henry Acoya, Gary Morris, and George Foehner.

The Senior Class began the dramatic activities of this year on December 9 with "—And Let Who Will Be Clever."

This play dealt with the country cousin who came to visit the Griffith family. All the kids are home from school. Josephine has brought Erp as her guest. Arabella, the country cousin, upsets the whole family, practically wrecks them financially, and walks off with the older sister's rich suitor, T. Bookington Wells. Before the curtain falls, Jo has eloped with Erp; Wilbur, the father, has collapsed because of financial troubles; and Maude, the grandmother, has broken her leg. The family is all upset when Arabella calmly walks in married to T. Bookington Wells.

On February 11 the combined glee clubs, under the direction of Mr. Ostlie and Mr. Hurlbert, presented "the Count and the Co-Ed." This was the first operetta presented by the glee clubs during the last five years.

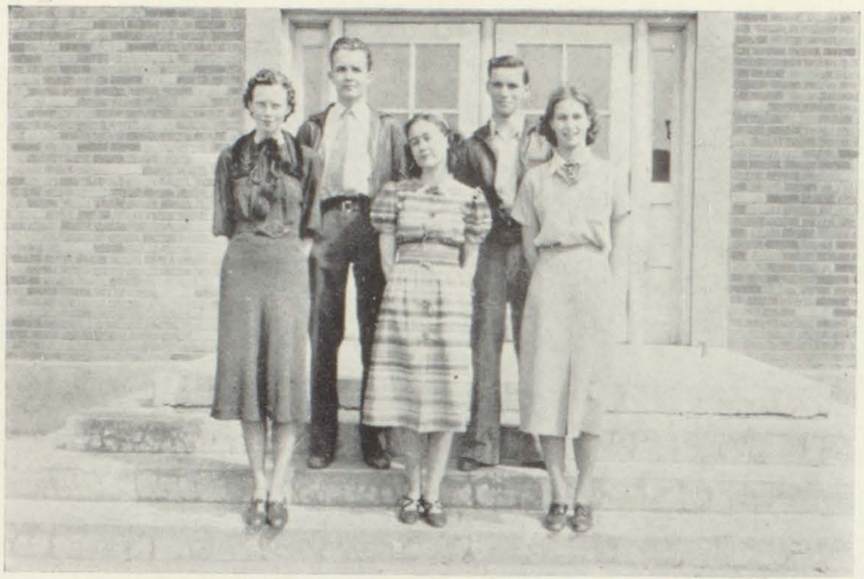

Snooze Andrews is always getting into trouble with the motor policemen. On his way into town on this particular day for a costume for the glee club performance that night, he stopped to help a motorist in trouble and then, trying to make up lost time, he hits a parked police motorcycle. To hide from the policeman he dons his costume.

Marden College is in debt, and to save it they must have $100,000. They have $50,000, and Doctor McSpadden is expecting a count who he hopes will donate the rest.

Doctor McSpadden mistakes Snooze for the Count. Snooze fools them for awhile, but when Miss Agatha Lockstep, an old maid house mother, sets her cap for him, he quits. He refuses to disguise any longer, and he surrenders to the motor cop. The policeman didn't want Snooze, he just wants to asked him not to report the accident because he was off of his beat visiting the girl at the corner drug store.

Doctor McSpadden gets a letter from the Count saying he is unable to come, but he knows Marden College deserves the money. He had had some motor trouble the day before, and a Marden boy stopped and helped him. Naturally it was Snooze who was the here, and Doctor McSpadden forgives him.

The first of the four one-act plays to be presented by the public speaking class was a mystery "The Opening of a Door." At the first of the play we learn that David has been killed quite some time before, and he still haunts his home. Each night his spirit returns at twelve o'clock begging to come in and get revenge. The family doesn't know that Martin committed the murder, and Martin won't let them open the door and let David in. One night Ruth's fiance is there and he opens the door. Nothing can be seen, but David's spirit enters and throws Martin over the cliff and goes back to his grave in peace.

Marjory Trimble - Martha Kane
Deyo Pollock - Cedrick Greene
Marguerite Smith - - Alice
Kenneth Smith - - Henry
Roger Stiles - - Max Myers
Joann Sughrue - Irene Campbell
Mary May Stiles - Dona Dreams

To add a little life to the evening, the second play given was "The Silver Lining", a comedy. Mrs. Kane has been pursuaded to sell her farm by a slick saleman. Henry, her nephew, has reason to believe that there is silver on the farm, and she is being tricked. Miss Kane has a chance to sign the papers, and a group of people arrive. Among them was Max, a surveyor. Henry talks the surveyor into looking at his claim, and then comically holds up the proceedings until Max can return. Henry was right about the silver, and the farm was saved.

"Dead Men Can't Hurt You"
Student Director - Franklin Martin
Frankie Edwards - Nan Helder
Steele Rawlins - - - Oscar
William Funk - - - Emil
Margaret Darling - - Bertha
Leslie Rhodes - - - Sheriff

The tragedy of the evening was a dramatic, tense play entitled "Dead Men Can't Hurt You". Nan Helder, in an effort to get rid of her father's spirit which she believes hovers over her home, gets all new furniture and changes everything. Emil Mauer, an outlaw, stumbles on the place quite by accident. Emil and Nan fall in love, but Emil's hiding place is discovered. The sheriff gives Nan a gun with the instructions to shoot Emil on sight. Oscar, Nan's brother, sees the outlaw, yells for Nan to shoot him. Nan obeys the voice which sounds so much like that of her father's, and she kills Emil, the only person who was ever good to her.

"The Pot-Boilers"

Howard Whitlow - - - - - - - - Howard Wouldby
Edwin Parry - - Mr. Ivory
Veach Willis - - Mr. Ruler
Dante Ianni - - Mr. Inkwell
Peggy Willey - Mrs. Pencil
Mary Elizabeth Marley - - - - - - - - Miss Ivory

The spice of the evening was brought out in the last play presented, a farce entitled "The Pot-Boilers". The scene is a half-set stage where a group of actors and actresses have begun practice on Mr. Pinnikle Sud's new play which is only half-finished. The practicing never goes very well, the lines aren't learned, and those that are written are disconnected. After a very hilarious attempt to go through the play, they stop where each actor is in a position to kill the other. Then some brilliant person screams, "Why don't you shoot the author?" and the cast considers it a fine proposition.

BAND

The Winslow High School band, under the capable direction of Mr. Ostlie, has been very consistent in winning honors at the Northern Arizona Music Contest, held at the Flagstaff Teachers College each year.

Last spring, just before the contest, new uniforms were purchased for the band members. The money was obtained through the giving of concerts, and donations from other school organizations and the city.

This year many members of the glee clubs, band, and orchestra, to show their appreciation, donated toward purchasing a new uniform for Mr. Ostlie.

Due to the interest displayed in the band by the entire community, the members were sent to the San Francisco World's Fair to enter the regional contest.

A CAPPELLA

Around Christmas, several members of both glee clubs were chosen by Mr. Ostlie to form an a cappella choir to present a number of the old Christmas numbers.

The group gained much valuable knowledge, and gave a number of performances for the school and outside organizations.

The number of the group was limited because of the fact that a smaller group has a greater opportunity for fast, interpretative learning.

STRING ENSEMBLE

The string ensemble of this year was composed of Margaret Patterson, viola; Pat Carr, Cello; and Lowell Anderson and Morgan Gilbert, violins.

The ensemble progressed rapidly during the last semester while practicing for the Northern Arizona Music Contest.

WOODWIND ENSEMBLE

In 1937, Mr. Ostlie organized a woodwind ensemble. Since that time much has been done in improving it. During the last semester they practiced more than usual for the Music Contest held at Flagstaff.

Those members in this year's woodwind ensemble were: Genevieve Jenkins, Frank Nelson, Leslie Rhodes, Manuel Aranda, Brownell Anderson, and Jim Upchurch.

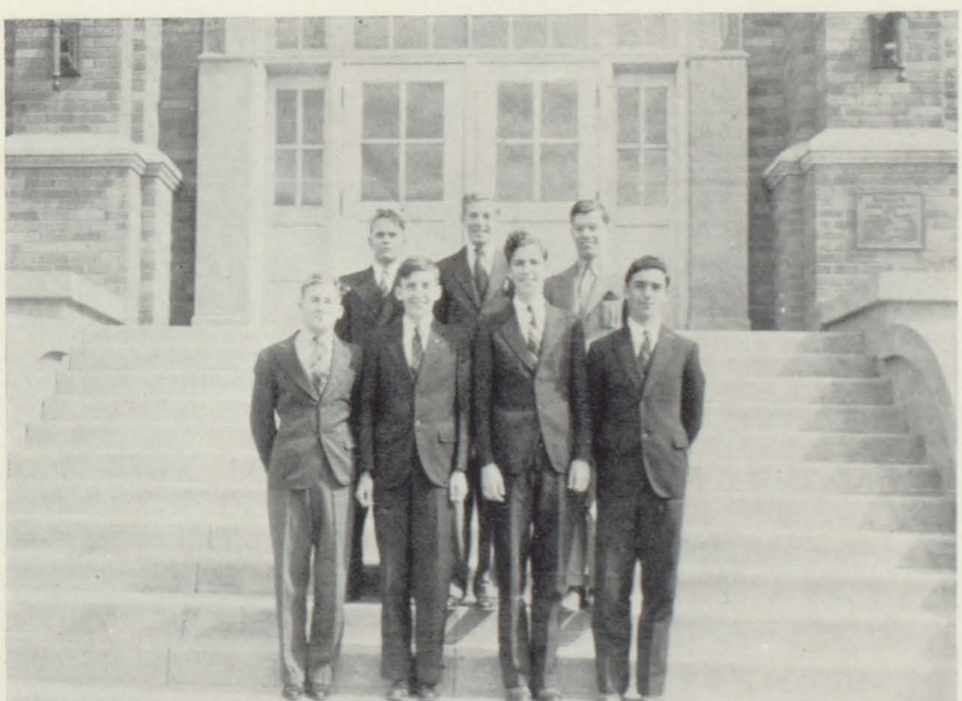

Girls' Trio

The selection of the contest girls was given to Dr. Ardrey, when he chose the other contestants representing Winslow at the Flagstaff contest.

Seven girls tried out for the trio, and it was quite a problem to make a choice. June Watkins, Janet Dunn, and Peggy Willey were selected, with Mary Elizabeth Marley, Frankie Edwards, and Margaret Patterson as alternates.

Helen Eastman was the accompanist for this group.

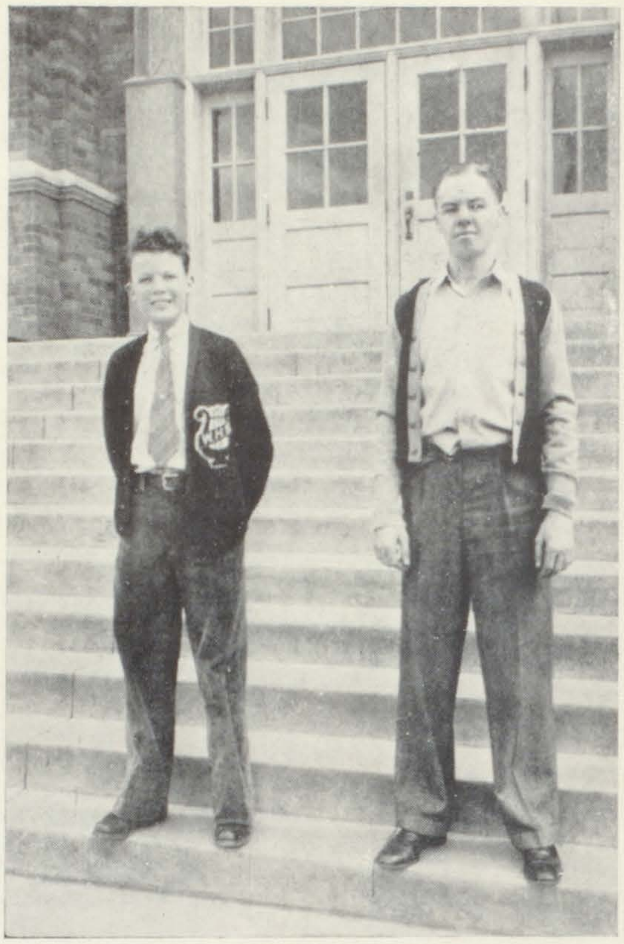

Boys' Quartet

The members of the boys' quartet also were selected by Dr. Ardrey at the musical try-outs.

Dante Ianni, Donald Kirk, Lowell Anderson, and Roger Stiles composed the quartet, and Jimmy Savage, L. D. Bostick, and Tom Burgett acted as alternates.

This vocal group has given a number of performances, each of which is unaccompanied.

DEBATE TEAM

DICK KLEINDIENST

FRANKLIN MARTIN

Chalking up six straight wins, Winslow's debate team emerged victorious in the tournament held on March 10 at the Northern Arizona Teachers College. Franklin Martin and Dick Kleindienst displayed outstanding forensic ability for high school students, especially in the delivery of extemporaneous rebuttal. Martin, a senior, has been a member of Winslow's debate team for three years, while Kleindienst, a sophomore, is completing his second year.

Since each school could enter as many as four teams in the meet, there were fourteen teams entered. In the first rounds of the tournament, the Winslow boys outtalked teams from Prescott, Holbrook, and Flagstaff. In the quarter and semi-finals Clarkdale and Jerome fell before Winslow's verbal onslaught. In the final debate the local team won a unanimous decision from a second Clarkdale team.

The question debated was the national high school debate topic: "Resolved, That the United States Should Establish an Alliance With Great Britain." The question was a timely one and required knowledge of not only present day affairs but also of the past foreign policy of the United States.

Since in such a round robin tournament each team must be able to debate both sides of the question, the Winslow team debated the affirmative side four times and the negative side twice.

The team was coached by Verla Oare, of the social science department of the local high school.

CAMERA CLUB

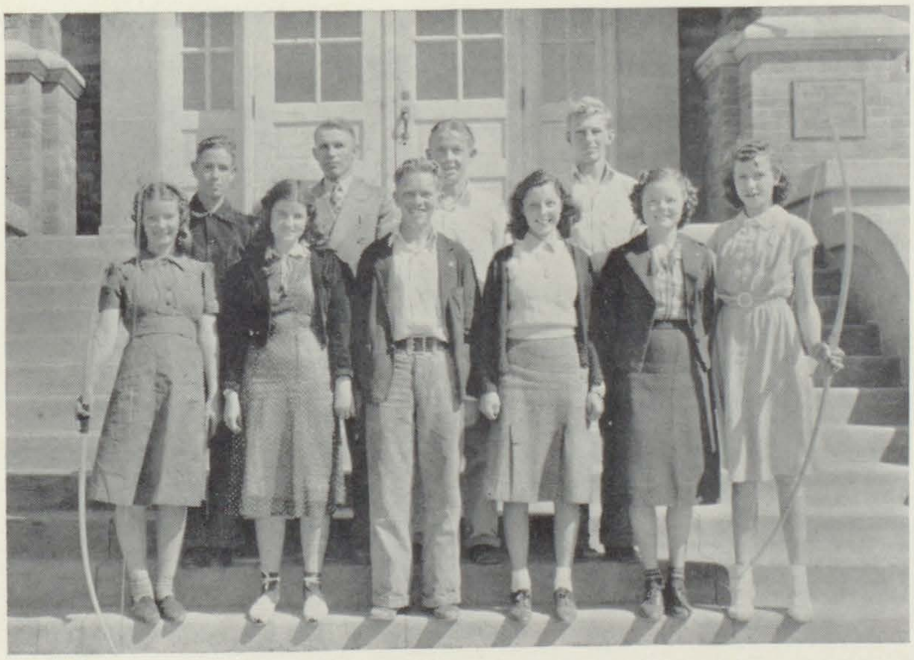

For the first time in the history of Winslow High School, a camera club has been organized, which is being sponsored by Mr. Potthoff.

The main purpose and activities of this club are to learn the different parts of the camera, how to take good pictures, and how to develop one's own pictures.

Although the club was just organized the last semester of this school year, there is already a membership of twenty-nine.

ARCHERY

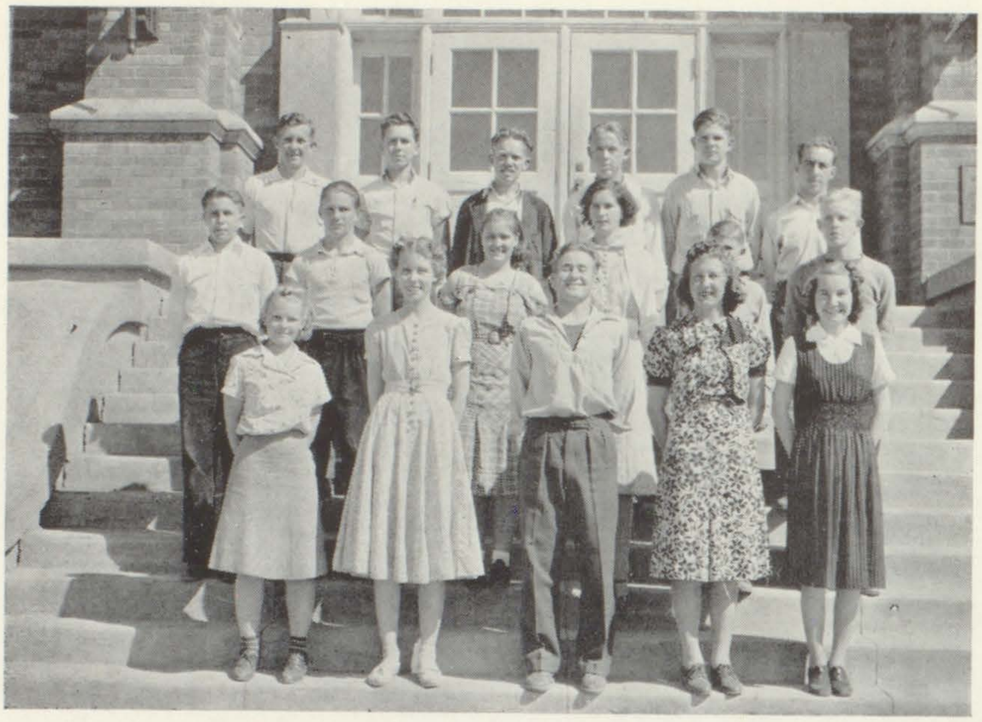

At the beginning of the second semester this year, an archery club was formed.

Each member is responsible for buying and taking care of his own equipment. The club was organized merely for an enjoyable pastime for all students showing an interest in the sport. A great deal of enthusiasm has been shown for the revival of this age-old activity.

Mr. Booth is the first sponsor of the archery club.

RIFLE CLUB

At the request of numerous students, a rifle club was organized by a committee from the Student Council at the beginning of the second semester this year.

The general purpose of this club is to teach students how to use a rifle safely and to learn the care and use of the various parts of it. Target practice is held quite frequently under the close direction of Coach Olmsted, the sponsor.

Each member furnishes his own ammunition, but the City Rifle Club furnishes them with rifles.

Steve has just been married, but because of a jungle fever which causes lapse of memory, he can't remember the girl.

He can remember only the taste of her lip stick and that they were married in Atlantic City. He knows it's one of five girls; so he invites all five of them to a party. Charlie, his best friend, tries to help him out. Between them they work out a plan of action. Charlie is to propose to all five of them and the one who refuses him must be Steve's wife. A kleptomaniac somehow gets loose and joins the party. She adds to the general confusion by claiming to be Steve's wife. After practically driving the butler crazy, Steve finds his wife, and all ends well.

'ILE"

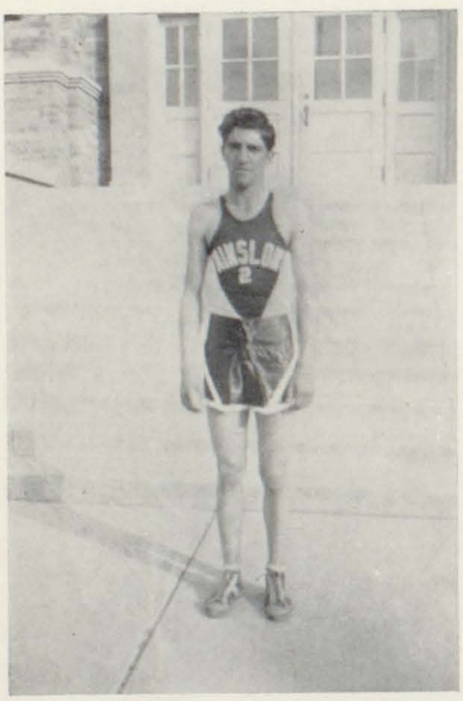

Eugene O'Neil's dramatic play "Ile" was chosen to represent Winslow in the one-act play contest held in Flagstaff on March 18.

Mr. Hurbert was the director of the play, and although it did not place in the contest, it was considered one of the finest dramatic plays every presented by Winlow High School.

The story of the play is centered around Captain Keeney, his wife, and crew, who have been ice bound on a whaling vessel for two years. The stubborn captain refuses to turn for home until the ship is filled with oil. When the ice thaws to the south, Mrs. Keeney begs her husband to turn back, and finally she gets his consent to do so. No sooner has he promised than the second mate rushes in to say that they can see whales. The captain breaks his promise, and Mrs. Keeney can stand it no longer. The shock is too much for her and she goes crazy.

TRACK

Although there had been no track meets held when this book went to the press, the outlook for Coach Olmstead's 1939 thin-clads was very encouraging.

There were several boys who showed a great deal of early season promise and were expected to score heavily for the Bulldogs. We seemed to be particularly strong in the javelin, shot-put, and hurdles.

Ribelo Ianni was elected track captain at the beginning of the season.

SOCIETY

The social ball of Winslow High was set a-rollin' by a dance sponsored by the Student Council. This gave all the young 'uns a chance for a good ol' get together.

The Seniors and the Faculty slipped away on October 5th for a picnic by their lonesomes. The teachers had to entertain, so a good time was had by all.

Spooks held sway at the Masquerade Ball on Halloween. Casey's Orchestra furnished music. Prizes were given for the best costumes and everyone enjoyed himself very much.

On November 10th, the annual "Bulldog Rumpus" took the school by storm. Roger Stiles and Frankie Edwards were crowned King and Queen by Master of Ceremonies, Franklin Martin, during the evening. Dancing followed the stage-show, music by courtesy of the newly launched "Meteor City Troubadours."

During the Thanksgiving holidays the Thespians sponsored a dance. Many of the alumni were home, so the evening was especially successful. A door prize also helped draw the crowd.

After nearly a half year of hard work, the Council felt entitled to something for themselves, in this case a dinner, pot luck. It was held on December 19, with Mr. and Mrs. Booth and Mr. and Mrs. Grieder as guests.

To greet dear old Santa and usher in Christmas festivities was the aim of the Seniors and Sophomores. They succeeded with a Christmas dance and everyone seemed to be a-feeling very joyful.

"The woim has toined!" On January 19th, the Pep Squad gave a Reverse Dance, everything being up to the girls. The boys were only allowed a very few "gentleman's choice". The Meteor City Troubadours hit a new high in playing and all in all it was a very merry time.

It was many a long and weary week before the "Rats" forgot their initiation into Pep Squad. Every Sponsor's word was law, with fun for everyone during the informal affair.

Honor Society Initiation was a big even in the lives of lucky Juniors and Seniors. Held on October 12, it was very dignified until the "eats", with formals, candles, and everything.

On January 25th, during an informal candlelight ceremony, a group of frightened intiates met their "fate", namely, being received into the Winslow chapter of Thespians. A pot luck supper and games followed the initiation.

The "green Freshmen" held a box supper and kid party. And the upper-classmen were certainly hinting for bids to the affair.

Eligible Shorthand Club members were put through a comic-serious initiation with talks and games on January 25.

The Honor Society gave a Valentines' Party for smart 'uns on the Semester Honor Roll. Chinese Checkers and other games were played, and box lunches were served.

The long looked for event of the spring, the Junior Prom was held on May 19. Neither setting nor music disappointed the large crowd in attendance.

The Senior Class of 1939 held their annual Hop on May 26. This was their last large social event and everyone turned out to wish them luck and have a very good time.

New members in Spanish Club were treated to a rather humorous initiation. Games were played and refreshments served.

The Senior class pranced off for "Ditch Day" on April 18.

June

2. School's out. Catch me—I'm weak from fatigue.

CONTESTS

On March 18, the one-act play, and debate contests were held at Flagstaff.

"Ile", Winslow's entry in the play contest, did not place, but the debate team won every debate and came out victorious.

Again Winslow came home winner when the second half of the academic contest was held April 1. Those who chalked up points for W. H. S. were:

Extemporaneous speech—First, Franklin Martin.

Serious reading—First, Leslie Rhodes.

Humorous reading—First, Dick Kleindienst.

Plane geometry — Third, Roland Pierson, Jane Godsell, Joaquin Monsegur, Jim Upchurch.

Shorthand I — Second, Emi Matsuda, Sumiki Kawasaki, Virginia Day, Lydia Pollock.

English—Tie for first, Jane Godsell, Pat Carr, Carolyn Lane, Jane Benham.

Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15, the Northern Arizona Music Contest took place in Flagstaff. For the third time this year, Winslow was the leading school. The following is a record of the ratings:

Violin solo—Superior, Morgan Gilbert.

Cello solo—Excellent, Pat Carr.

Trombone solo — Superior, Franklin Martin.

String ensemble—Superior, Margaret Patterson, Pat Carr, Lowell Anderson, Morgan Gilbert.

Woodwind ensemble—Superior, Frank Nelson, Leslie Rhodes, Manuel Aranda, Jim Upchurch.

Clarinet solo — Superior, Frank Nelson.

Trumpet solo—Superior, Dick Kleindienst.

Soprano solo—Good, Mary E. Marley.

Contralto solo—Excellent, Peggy Willey.

Tenor solo—Superior, Dante Ianni.

Baritone solo—Good, Roger Stiles.

Men's Quartet—Superior, Dante Ianni, Donald Kirk, Lowell Anderson, Roger Stiles.

Girls' trio—Excellent, June Watkins, Janet Dunn, Peggy Willey.

Boys' Glee club—Superior.

Girls' Glee Club—Superior.

A Cappella Choir—Superior.

All of these points won the contest for Winslow, and to add to the event, Frank Nelson and Franklin Martin were selected as two of the outstanding soloists of the contest.

The credit for the success of these contestants is not only to be given to them, but also to the accompanists and to the director, Mr. Ostlie.

PROPHECY

'This the spring of 1958 and the Spirit of Progress is looking over the record of advancement of his students in the '39 graduating class of the Winslow High School.

Peeping in the windows of the high school, he finds Miss Marjory Trimble, history teacher, has just received her Ph.D. and that Mr. K. M. Hurlbert has just resigned his position as English teacher to Miss Rose Rubi.

Sorely puzzled, he begins to read the "Winslow Herald", owned by Miss Winogene Bardsley, who is now married to a rich oil man from Oklahoma. On the front page in large letters he sees MARTIN DEFEATS HINES IN EXCITING COURT BATTLE and then CERTAIN TO WIN GUBERNATORIAL NOMINATION IN NEW YORK. Our visitor is startled even more when he reads WILEY ELECTED TO HEAD ARIZONA SUPREME COURT. Reading on he sees that Karl Tobey, famous doctor in the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, has just completed a cure for cancer.

Turning to the society page, the guest learns that Miss Barbara Curtis (Mrs. Gene Cross) is living in Flagstaff and helping her husband run a Beauty-Barber Shop. He is surprised even more when he sees that Carol Pohland (now married and living at Long Beach) will hold a coming-out party for her eldest daughter next fall. Glancing on he finds that Frankie Edwards (married and living on Long Island) was honored at a party given in the La Posada before she returned to New York by airplane. Frank Nelson, still the delight of Winslow circles, was elected president of the 30-40 club on Thursday.

Then hurrying to the "personals", the Spirit reads that Eva Snodgrass, now a famous artist, will give a talk at the Federal Art School soon; Mary Elizabeth Marley was home for a brief rest before opening a clinic in Palo Alto, California; Remigia Rubio has his own Jazz band and is the delight of all feminine hearts in Old Mexico.

Skipping to the sports page, the Spirit discovers that Jimmie Kawasaki known everywhere as "that terrific Jap," won a decision over John Henry Lewis in Madison Square Garden; and Gary Morris is now Coach in The Brigham Young University in Utah.

Scanning the advertisements, our spirit finds that "Red" Barto's exclusive hair dyeing establishment in Denver is open to the public.

Leaving the paper and dashing out into the street, the Spirit runs across Mildred McGlothlin, president of the Women's Club, who tells what has happened to the other students. Buby Bollotte and Anita Gonzales are both married, and so is Helen Eastman. Eva Futch is married, and her husband is minister to Panama. Ruth Keeney is married to a cowpuncher and devotes all her leisure time raising white horses. George Foehner is now pitching for the St. Louis Cardinals while Veach Willis recently took over the cannery at Snowflake.

Edwin Parry is running a private automobile concern in Seattle. Deyo Pollock is president of the Douglas Aircraft Company, while Marie Olds (Ambrose, to you), living in Alameda with her husband, is also going airminded. Verge Dean Britt is recuperating in jail after an unsuccessful attempt to fly to Ireland, as Corrigan did. Mike M'Gillycuddy is running the lumber mills in McNary but is still hoping to become an engineer. Theda Brewer is working as a Hollywood extra but is running a beauty salon between pictures. Emi Matsuda is secretary to the Japanese Embassy in Washington. Peggy Willey and Joann Sughrue are in Wisconsin, Peggy running a kindergarten, and Joann looking after her doctor husband.

Leland Hansen is a concert pianist currently appearing with the Philadelphia Harmonic Orchestra abroad. Bette Bauer is singing with Mickey Rooney's Orchestra over the radio. Ross Barr is touring in the South Sea Islands with his famous orchestra, and Leslie Rhodes is announcing for KBQ Winslow. Helen McKeand has married into the Royal Family and is living in Buckingham Palace. Peggy Darling is Helen's private secretary. Mary Mae Stiles is there, too, as Helen's private dress designer, sent over from the New York Shoppe. (She says she's homesick for the Reservation).

Jeff and Johnny Trujillo are both in Ethiopia as captains of Ianni's troops. Ribelo Ianni has taken over the job of running Italy, since Mussolini has retired.

Marguerite Smith and Jennie Williamson are over in Europe covering the war between Germany and Italy for all of the leading newspapers.

Whoo! What a class!

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1939 of Winslow High School, being sane of mind and sound of body, do hereby set forth this document as a last will and testament. To our helpful assistants, childhood companions, and less fortunate schoolmates, we generously bequeath the following:

Item I: To our principal, Mr. Booth, we extend our heartfelt gratitude for his paternal protection and kind leadership in the last four years.

Item II: To our superintendent, Mr. Grieder, we leave a million thanks for his unlimited pep and unbounded good humor.

Item III: To the members of the faculty we decree our best wishes and sincere thanks for their patience and never-failing faith in us.

Item IV: To our underclassmen we leave the hope that they will appreciate school more than we did, never stop holding it dear, and forgive us for what we say here.

Item V: Then, as individuals, we bequeath the following:

I, Ross Barr, will my marvelous physique to John Peterson.

I, Helen Eastman, remorsefully give up my monopoly on the piano to Jimmy Savage.

I, Bette Bauer, leave my monopoly on service station agents to Virginia Day.

I, Anita Gonzales, present my ability to work hard to Edocia Gallegos.

I, James Wiley, will my ability to get out of work to Lowell Anderson.

I, Emi Matsuda, bequeath my seriousness to Glenna Shumway.

I, Joann Sughrue, bequeath my hero-worshipping fickleness to Genevieve Jenkins.

I, Mary Elizabeth Marley, leave my long, lustrous hair to Carolyn Lane.

I, Theda Brewer, leave my dainty walk to Jane Godsell.

I, Barbara Curtis, leave my habit of carrying the world on my shoulders to Mary Jane Morton.

I, Remigio Rubio, present my friendliness to Tony Santesteban.

I, Mary May Stiles, will my artistic temperament to Pat Carr.

I, Peggy Darling, want Maxine Heartz to take my last name.

I, Mike M'Gillycuddy, want Bob De Spain to have my desire to pick fights; L. D. Bostick, my dark, wavy hair; and "Genius" Whitlow, my magnetic personality.

I, Eva Futch, leave my soft southern drawl to Jane Alsman.

I, Johnnie Trujillo, would like to present Fred Freeman with a natural wave for his hair.

I, Peggy Willey, bestow all my gaiety and nonchalance on Lorraine Blair.

I, Leland Hansen, bequeath my desire for arguing with Mr. Ostlie to Norma Weaver.

I, Leslie Rhodes, leave my slogan "I don't get it" to Florence Cain.

I, Mildred McGlothlin, will my ability to avoid dances to Barbara Goeglein.

I, Jeff Trujillo, bequeath my all-around good nature to Howard Haage.

I, Verge Dean Britt, bequeath my love for bikes and airplanes to Alice Sorenson.

I, Carol Pohland, leave Ellen Crozier my dark Patrician attractiveness.

I, Eva Snodgrass, leave with Eileen Wiley the good humor and good sense to carry on her pilgrimage of good-will while on earth.

I, Marguerite Smith, will my long hair and my ability to avoid permanents to Pat Carr and to Virginia Corcoran.

I, Deyo Pollock, have decided not to be selfish (cost me what it may), with Pat Sughrue, my best point, so I will her to Kenneth Smith.

I, Marie Olds, will my ability to get engaged (not to Wilfred, but just engaged), to Florence Cain.

I, Marjory Trimble, will my ability to make one's in Miss Oare's classes, Civics this time, to you, Laurence Deal.

I, Jimmie Kawasaki, will my ability to argue with Miss Oare in Civics to you, Jimmy Savage.

I, Helen McKeand, will my blond hair to Jane Benham.

I, "Pretty Boy" Frank Nelson will my name to Bobby Kleindienst. So long, "Pretty Boy Kleindienst".

I, Edwin Parry, will my automobile to my best friend, a "mere" Junior, Billy Kiernan.

I, Rose Rubi, will my ability to make one's in Miss Oare's World History class to Virginia Corcoran.

I, George Foehner, give and bequeath my ability to run (from the "women") to Clive Foy.

I, Frankie Edwards, will my ability to get along with teachers to Dante Ianni.

I, Franklin Martin, will to you, Lowell Anderson, my ability to do, act, say and be what the student body wants a President to do, act, say, and be. May you even be better than I. (Say, kids, wasn't that nice and modest of me?)

I, Gary Morris, will and bequeath my winning ways with the women to Kenneth Carver.

I, Ruth Keeney, bequeath and will my quiet manner to Jane Kutcher.

I, Winogene Bardsley, give and bequeath my winning manner with the boys to Roberta McGregor.

I, Ronald Barto give and bequeath my curly locks (fiery red, though they are), to Helen Pingrey.

I, Ruby Bollotte, give and bequeath my gift of "gab" to Lorraine Blair.

I, Ribelo Ianni, will my ability to high jump to our otherwise all-round track man, Henry Acoya.

I, Karl Tobey, will my ambition to be a doctor to Ross Bazell.

I, Jennie Williamson, will my "blush" to Pat Murray.

I, Veach Willis, will my grand manners at all times (?) to you, Kay Howard.

Lastly—We hereby nominate and appoint Mr. Hurlbert and Miss Naysmith, our sponsors, at Winslow High School, Winslow, State of Arizona, to be executors, without bond, of this, our last will and testament; and we hereby revoke all former wills and testamentary instruments.

In Witness Whereof, We have hereto subscribed our names and affixed our signatures and seals on this day of May 29, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Thirty Nine.

Potthoff: This pearl came from an oyster. Isn't that wonderful of nature?

Mike:' That's nothing. Bobby has a whole string of them that she got from a lobster.

Hurlbert (combing his hair)—See all the electricity in my hair.

Whitlow—Naturally, it's connected to a dry cell.

Freshie: What's good for cleaning ivory?

Senior: Ever try a shampoo?

Miss Boyer: What are the four seasons?

Student: Pepper, salt, vinegar, and mustard.

Some teachers are so fond of an argument that they won't eat anything that agrees with them.

Martin (in assembly, bawling out P. Carr): Ciss Carr, don't you think it's about time to settle down?

P. Carr: Oh, Mr. Martin, this is so sudden.

Miss Naysmith: Is that Mr. Grieder's signature on this slip?

Secretary: As near as I could get it.

Mr. Booth (In Physics): How does a fish stop in water?

Betty C.: He sticks out his tail.

Maxine H.: Did anyone ever tell you how wonderful you are?

Frank N.: No, I don't think anyone ever did.

Maxine H.: Then I'd like to know how and where you got the idea.
